This table lists the statutes, ordinances and international instruments cited in the book. Swiss acts carry their English titles as used in the text, the German abbreviation and the Fedlex SR number under which the consolidated text is published. Singapore statutes carry the official short title as it appears on Singapore Statutes Online, where every Act is published under that short title and its year of enactment. The last column names the provisions that matter most for digital assets and refers to the part of the book in which they are discussed.

The Swiss SR numbers follow the Fedlex classification. The Singapore statutes cited most often are the Payment Services Act 2019, the Securities and Futures Act 2001, the Financial Services and Markets Act 2022, the Corruption, Drug Trafficking and Other Serious Crimes (Confiscation of Benefits) Act 1992, the Insolvency, Restructuring and Dissolution Act 2018 and the Variable Capital Companies Act 2018.[1]

Since the 2020 revised edition, Singapore cites every Act with the year of its original enactment and without the former chapter numbers. The book follows that convention throughout, including in the tables below. Swiss ordinances are listed separately from the acts they implement, because a practitioner often needs the
